Gloria Litton, RHIA, CCS

Hello everyone. The summer has completely flown by and it's time for our new VHIMA year to begin. I am really looking forward to this new year and all the things that it has in store for us. One of the biggest events for us this year is the proximity of the AHIMA National Convention in Washington, DC this October. This meeting will be held in conjunction with the International Federation of Health Records Organization (IFHRO). This will be the first opportunity for many of us to attend a national convention. In any event, we are in for a treat.

Our annual meeting took place in Roanoke in May and was a great success. The evaluation responses were very positive from the members and the vendors. The Hotel Roanoke is a great location for this meeting. Thanks to everyone who worked so hard in planning and carrying out this meeting.

From our conversations at our recent Strategic Planning meeting in July, I know that your representatives on the Board are anxious to make this a great year by doing what we can to provide the services that you need. Based on input from you, our members, we have made some changes to enhance the services that we will provide for you in the upcoming year.

Your input and ideas are crucial to help the board meet your needs.

One of those changes will be rotating our annual meetings in two locations in the state. These locations will be Williamsburg in 2005 and again in Roanoke in 2006. Also beginning in 2006, we will have 2-day educational sessions instead of 2½ in hopes of keeping down costs and making it more convenient for members to attend. We will also provide a one day fall educational session in the opposing location to provide educational opportunities for the entire state each year. In 2005, there will be a 2-½ day educational session in Williamsburg in May and a 1-day session in the fall in Roanoke. In 2006, a 2-day session will be held in Roanoke and a 1-day session in Williamsburg.

Another change we are making is to have half our Board meetings via phone conference to cut down on travel time and time away from work for our volunteers and elected officers. With so much emphasis on cutting back on time away from work, this makes it easier for us to take care of VHIMA business but meet the needs of our employers as well.

With this change, we hope that this will enable more of you to become active volunteers in the leadership of the VHIMA association. We are eager to have "new blood" join the Board in the coming year. Your input and ideas are crucial to make changes and conduct business that meets the needs of each of our members. In October, you will receive a willingness to serve form from Carol Smith, our Nominating Committee chairman. Carol is working hard to provide detailed information for each of the offices; we hope this will

TCC HIT Program Changes Curriculum

Tidewater Community College's Health Information Technology program at Virginia Beach has made a change in their curriculum. In the fall of 2004, all the courses needed for new coding professionals have been moved to the first 3 semesters of the RHIT curriculum.

This new format will "fast track" those individuals who want to pursue a career in coding while at the same time completing courses that will fulfill some of the requirements of the associate's degree.

encourage those who would like to participate but are unsure of the responsibilities of these offices to accept a spot on the ballot for the 2005-2006 year. However, volunteer opportunities are not limited to elected positions. There are many opportunities to serve on committees in many other ways.

"Finding the time" to volunteer seems to be a task we all struggle with. However, I challenge you all to "make the time" in the upcoming year to step up and participate in this organization. Come share your ideas and help build an association that will provide each of us the things we need professionally as well as socially.

I look forward to working with you this year and am open to any comments or ideas you might have regarding VHIMA services and how to meet your needs. Please feel free to contact me at my office at (434) 982-7651 or email me at gloria.litton@mjh.org. I hope to see many of you in DC in October.

Joint Commission's Quality Check® Helps Health Care Service Choice

(OAKBROOK TERRACE, Ill. – July 15, 2004) The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations today launched a new generation of reporting health care information about the quality and safety of care provided in its accredited health care organizations across the country.

The Joint Commission's Quality Check® will provide clear, objective data to individuals that will permit them to compare local hospitals, home care agencies, nursing homes, laboratories, and ambulatory care organizations with others on state and national bases. Further, the Joint Commission will, for the first time, provide hospital-specific information about clinical performance in the care of patients with four major conditions. These include heart attack, heart failure, pneumonia, and pregnancy and related conditions.

Individuals will also be able to determine how health care organizations compare with others in meeting national requirements that help them prevent devastating medical accidents. The requirements specifically seek to avoid misidentification of patients, surgery on the wrong body part, miscommunication among caregivers, unsafe use of infusion pumps, medication mix-ups, problems with equipment alarm systems, and infections acquired in the health care setting.

Consumers can access Quality Check at www.qualitycheck.org and search for health care organizations by name, type, and/or location. Interactive links to information are designed to help individuals better understand how to use and interpret the information presented. Individuals are encouraged to talk with their doctors about the information presented on Quality Check.

"More than ever before, Americans are seeking information to help them make sound decisions about their health care," says Dennis S. O'Leary, M.D., president, Joint Commission. "Quality Check is an important new source of quality-related information that will substantially enrich the consumer's knowledge base."

"We are very pleased that comparative data on hospital performance regarding four major conditions will be available on Quality Check, and we look forward to the inclusion of additional conditions as soon as possible," said Joyce Dubow, associate director, AARP Public Policy Institute. "The Joint Commission's decision to provide the public with the opportunity to see how well hospitals compare to one another should stimulate these institutions to improve care and also permit patients to make more informed choices about hospital care."

Quality Check uses symbols, such as checks, pluses and minuses to make it easy for consumers to compare health care organizations. Quality Check reports include:

- The organization's accreditation decision and effective date
- Health care services provided by the organization that are accredited by the Joint Commission
- National Quality Improvement Goals, which portray the performance of hospitals in caring for patients with heart attack, heart failure, pneumonia, and pregnancy and related conditions. These currently apply only to hospitals.
- National Patient Safety Goals, which display the performance of health care organizations in taking specific steps to prevent serious accidents in health care. The Goals and their related discrete requirements are specific to different types of health care settings accredited by the Joint Commission (for example, hospitals, ambulatory care organizations, clinical laboratories).
- Commentary about the Quality Check report, if the organization chooses to submit one for inclusion
- Requirements for improvement, if applicable

The Joint Commission's Quality Check is just one source of information a person should use in determining whether a given health care organization is likely to meet his or her needs. When deciding where to go for care, individuals should consult with their doctors and other health care professionals about the advantages or special characteristics of each health care organization being considered. The Joint Commission offers a free series of Helping You Choose brochures at www.jcaho.org, or 630.792.5800.

The Joint Commission's original organization-specific performance reports were first published in 1994. Quality Check is the new generation of these reports. Historical Performance Reports will continue to be available at the Quality Check website, www.qualitycheck.org. For consumers unable to access Quality Check online, please call the Joint Commission's Customer Service Center at 630.792.5800, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. CT, during weekdays.

VHIMA FAQs

These Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) were developed to answer the most common questions we receive from new members, potential members, students, and vendors. They will be posted on the VHIMA web site. If you think of other questions to add, please notify any member of the VHIMA Board.

What is VHIMA?

VHIMA is the Virginia Health Information Management Association, a Component State Association (CSA) and affiliate of the American Health Information Management Association (AHIMA).

How do I join VHIMA?

VHIMA currently has three membership categories:

Active—you must be an active member of AHIMA, employed or residing in the Commonwealth of Virginia, and indicate at the time of payment of the AHIMA annual dues your desire to belong to the Virginia State Association. An active member can vote, hold office and to serve as a member of the Board of Directors, Committee chairman, Committee member or delegate to the AHIMA.

Associate—you must be an associate member of AHIMA, employed or residing in the Commonwealth of Virginia, and indicate at the time of payment of the AHIMA annual dues your desire to belong to the Virginia State Association or any other individual interested in the purposes of VHIMA who does not meet the qualifications for active membership. Associate members have all rights and privileges to membership, including that of service on committees and subcommittees with voice and vote; however they shall not be entitled to other voting privileges, hold office or serve as delegates.

Student—you must hold a student membership in AHIMA and be enrolled in a program located in this Commonwealth. A student member is entitled to attend business and educational meetings of this VHIMA without payment of a registration fee. A student member may serve as a committee member with voice, but cannot vote, hold office or serve as a member of the Board of Directors, committee chairman or delegate to the AHIMA.

I am a representative of a vendor who does business with the health information profession in Virginia. Can my company or I be a member of VHIMA?

At this time, VHIMA does not have a corporate membership category. You can, however, be a member of VHIMA if you meet any of the criteria in the above three membership categories.

How is VHIMA structured?

An elected Board of Directors governs VHIMA with the assistance of committee chairs, most of which are appointed. The elected officers consist of a President, Past President, President Elect, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer (2-year term), Elected Director, 1st year Delegate and 2nd year Delegate.

The committees for 2004-2005 consist of Public Relations/Newsletter, Scholarship/Education, Membership, VHIMA CoP (Communities of Practice), Coding/Data Quality Consultant, Website, Nominating (appointed from elected committee), Annual Meeting, Program, and HI-PAA Summit Leader. The presidents of local associations are considered ad hoc members of the VHIMA board.

To see the individuals currently holding the above officer and committee chair positions, go to www.vhima.com then click on About VHIMA.

I see VHIMA has a web site. Tell me more about it.

VHIMA's web site went live in 2002 and continues to become a communication tool for the membership in conjunction with AHIMA's Communities of Practice (CoP).

In addition to finding out more about VHIMA and its board, members more and more often are turning to the web site for convention information, job postings, vendor links, and the VHIMA newsletter—gathering information electronically rather than in hard copy. It's just one more way VHIMA is keeping up with the 21st century trends.

Who do I contact if I have questions about VHIMA?

Who do I contact if I want to volunteer with VHIMA?

If you want to volunteer in an elected capacity, complete the Willingness to Serve form, which is on the www.vhima.com web site.

If you want to volunteer in a non-elected capacity, contact the current President or President Elect to discuss your interest (see above). You can also obtain the current officers' contact information from www.vhima.com.

How does VHIMA communicate with its members?

Currently, VHIMA communicates with its membership in four different ways.

Via AHIMA's Communities of Practice (CoP) In 2003, VHIMA launched a Virginia:Geographic CoP that is accessed through AHIMA's CoP. AHIMA/VHIMA members are automatically provided access to the CoP, and this method of communication is ideal because it is multidirectional—members can communicate between themselves, with the VHIMA board, and the board can communicate to the members. The CoP also provides several methods of communication—email, links, resources, and community discussion threads. To begin, click on the “How Do I Get Started?” FAQ within the Virginia CoP.

Quarterly Newsletter In 2004, VHIMA began a quarterly newsletter distribution to its active members. The newsletter will be distributed through 2004 in hard copy; in 2005, it will be available through the CoP and VHIMA's website ONLY. Members are encouraged to submit information on matters of professional concern to the editor of the newsletter.

Website VHIMA's web site went live in 2002 and continues to become a communication tool for the membership in conjunction with AHIMA's Communities of Practice (CoP). In addition to finding out more about VHIMA and its board, members more and more often are turning to the web site for convention information, job postings, vendor links, and the VHIMA newsletter—gathering information electronically rather than in hard copy. It's just one more way VHIMA is keeping up with the 21st century trends.

It's critical that you keep your AHIMA profile up to date, including a valid email address, at all times in order to receive the latest in VHIMA news.

What educational opportunities does VHIMA offer?

VHIMA holds an annual convention in early May each year, alternating the location between Roanoke and Williamsburg.

In 2005, VHIMA will begin holding a one-day education session in the alternate location (wherever the annual convention for that year is NOT being held). For example, the 2005 annual convention will be held in Williamsburg, so the educational session will be held in Roanoke. Watch www.vhima.com for more information.

An Invitation to Volunteer

The 2004-2005 VHIMA Board is searching for two volunteers to fill two board positions for the upcoming year.

The positions are Programs Chair and Arrangements Chair. Both positions enjoy ample assistance from all members of the board and can appoint their own committee members (in accordance with the VHIMA bylaws).

Please contact President Gloria Litton via phone (434-982-7651) or email (gloria.litton@mjh.org) for more details.

Are You Ready for ICD-10?

AHIMA's website, www.ahima.org, has a four-year implementation plan for ICD-10 that's worth a look.

Click on “ICD-10 Preparation Checklist” on AHIMA's home page to find a detailed outline of what you can do to get ready for the transition. A brief summary of the article appears below.

2004—create an implementation planning team and start the initial education process.

2005—identifying and budgeting for required IS changes and assessing, budgeting, and implementing clinician and coder education.

2006—implement required IS changes, follow up assessment of documentation practices, and increasing coder education.

2007—finalize system changes, test claims transactions with payers, intensive coder education, monitoring coding accuracy and reimbursement with DRG impact, resolving post-implementation issues.

2008—monitoring coding accuracy, reimbursement, DRG impact, coding productivity, and continuing appropriate coder education.

2004 AHIMA Summer Team Talks/Leadership Conference Report

By Linda Vernon, RHIA

Over the weekend of July 16-18, 2004, I had the pleasure of representing Virginia as your President-Elect during the AHIMA Summer Team Talks and Leadership Conference in Chicago, IL. It was a most invigorating time for me, and I came back excited and with lots of knowledge to share with you.

The conference lasted two and a half days, and was full of interesting topics and great networking opportunities. One opportunity I took advantage of was visiting the AHIMA headquarters. What an impressive place! It was nice to see where people I've talked with work and how they function on a day-to-day basis. I also got some great pictures of Lake Michigan, Millennium Park, and the Magnificent Mile from the 21st floor!

One of the sessions I attended was "Volunteers: Our Most Precious Asset." The word volunteer is defined as both a noun and a verb:

- (n) - One who serves or acts of his or her own free will.
- (n) - One who gives help, does a service or takes an obligation voluntarily.
- (v) - To give or offer to give on one's own initiative.
- (v) - To enter into or offer to enter into a venture of one's own free will.

We discussed why people volunteer, why they don't, and the benefits of volunteering in a professional association. I am sure you can come up with some good Do's and Don'ts but I want to point out some of the benefits of volunteering:

- gain a state or national perspective on issues facing the profession
- enhance your leadership skills and abilities
- strengthen your professional network
- become more valuable to your current employer and more marketable to potential employers
- establish new personal friendships that can last a lifetime

For those members who are not in active practice (like myself), you can volunteer and become active in the Association to remain connected. When I left my HIM position, I realized that I did not want to lose the contacts that I had made over the years, and my involvement with VHIMA would only help me to be more marketable should I need or want to go back to work.

Involvement at the state level will help you stay on top of issues facing the profession, help you maintain your professional network, and enable you to expand that network.

Time may be a factor in your decision to volunteer; that's understandable, because it is for most of us. Start small, remember the benefits, and keep in mind that the individuals who have previously volunteered are available to help.

Your contribution to the profession and VHIMA are very valuable. Volunteer!

Tidewater HIMA Update

By Joanne Neal, RHIT, CCS-P, CPC

Juanita Davis, RHIT has been appointed Professional Development Chair and Helen Green, RHIA will serve as Membership Chair for the Tidewater Health Information Management Association (THIMA) for 2004-2005.

THIMA plans to hold three membership meetings this year. Proposed dates for two of these meetings are Friday, November 5, 2004 and Friday, March 18, 2005 for the Annual Meeting. Mark your calendar and plan to attend!

For the 2004-2005 year, THIMA has reduced the number of scheduled meetings from four to three. Additionally, there are no meetings scheduled for April or May in an effort to encourage members to attend VHIMA's annual meeting in May.

November's meeting will focus on coding. Anyone who is interested or knows of anyone interested in presenting at a membership meeting, contact Juanita Davis at 757-588-1550.

Changes to bylaws were proposed and passed out to members at the July meeting. These will be voted on at the meeting on November 5. Proposed changes include dates for fiscal year, meeting requirements, eligibility requirements, election process and reduction of number of standing committees.

Members who did not attend the July meeting can call Christina Upton, RHIT at 757-683-5468 to request a copy of proposed bylaw changes.
